PRESS COMMUNIQUÉ.

Dated Fort St. George, July 3, 1924.

[Mysore-Madras Cauvery Agreement.]

On the 18th February last, an agreement was executed on behalf of the Government of Madras and the Mysore Darbar which finally settled the long-standing dispute relating to the utilization of the waters of the river Cauvery in Madras and Mysore, respectively. This agreement has just been ratified by the Right Honourable the Secretary of State.

The history of this dispute is well known. In 1913 the question was referred to arbitration, but the Award given in 1914 was of a nature which the Government of Madras were unable to accept and they therefore appealed to the Secretary of State who thereupon suspended the Award. Negotiations between the Government of Madras and the Mysore Darbar were then commenced with a view to an equitable and friendly settlement of the points at issue. The principal objection, in the interests of this Presidency, to the Award of 1914 lay in the fact that, although the Award provided, in terms of gauge readings at the Cauvery Dam (Upper Anicut), for the supplies which were assumed by the Arbitrator to represent the established rights of Madras in regard to existing irrigation in the Cauvery Delta, it afforded inadequate protection to Madras in respect of the surplus waters of the river and of future extensions of irrigation. These negotiations were conducted on behalf of Madras by the Chief Engineer for Irrigation Mr. W. J. J. Howley, O.B.E. Sir Thomas Ward, the Inspector-General of Irrigation, was consulted from time to time, and visited this Presidency in this connexion.

From the date of the award, further gaugings of the supply available in the river in each month of the year and of the discharges represented by gauge readings at the Cauvery dam were continuously maintained and registered, and on the basis of these observations, and of calculations based on the more exact data which thus became available, the first stage in the settlement was reached in 1921, when, after very careful and prolonged study of the later results by the late Colonel Morin, who was then Chief Engineer for Irrigation, and Mr. F. E. Morgan, the Assistant Chief Engineer for Irrigation, the first step in the final settlement was taken in July 1921 when rules limiting the impounding in the Krishnarajasagara reservoir in Mysore, minimum gauge readings to be maintained at the Cauvery dam and the limitation of extension of irrigated area in Mysore were agreed to by both sides. During the course of the subsequent negotiations, however, the Mysore Darbar claimed the right to prohibit any further extension of irrigation under the river Cauvery or its tributaries in Madras, whether by improvement of duty or otherwise, to prohibit the construction of any reservoir on any tributary of the Cauvery in Madras territory, and to limit the effective capacity of the Madras Cauvery reservoir at Metur to 82,000 m.c.ft. This Government was unable to accept these restrictions, which would have seriously affected irrigation facilities in Madras for fifty years at least, and further negotiations took place. The matter was discussed at meetings which took place in Mysore and Ootacamund during June and July 1922 between the Member then in charge of the Irrigation portfolio, Sir K. Srinivasa Ayyangar, and the Diwan of Mysore. No conclusions were however arrived at. Subsequently several tentative draft agreements were framed, and in April 1923 a further discussion took place at Bangalore between Sir Charles Todhunter and the Hon'ble Mr. C. P. Ramaswami Ayyar, and the Diwan of Mysore, at which were present Mr. Narasimha Ayyangar, the Under Secretary to the Government of Madras (Irrigation), and Mr. Cadambi, the Special Officer, Krishnarajasagara Works, and in June 1923, the Hon'ble Mr. C. P. Ramaswami Ayyar discussed the matter in Simla with the Government of India. In September and November 1923 further conferences were held in Bangalore and Madras between Mr. A. V. Ramalinga Ayyar, Chief Engineer, assisted by Mr. Narasimha Ayyangar, the Under Secretary, and the Mysore Engineers. During this period the assistance of Mr. Gebbie, the Consulting Engineer to the Government of India, was obtained, and he attended the September conference. The Mysore authorities, however, found themselves unable to modify their claims already referred to, and this position was maintained unaltered until February last, when at a final meeting between the representatives in Bangalore, at which Mr Gebbie, the Consulting Engineer to the Government of India, was present, an amicable agreement was arrived at. Under this agreement, which was executed on the 18th February, the terms of the agreement of July 1921 were confirmed, the limit of effective capacity of the proposed Madras reservoir was raised to 93,500 m.c.ft., the right to construct new irrigation works on the tributaries of the Cauvery in Madras was preserved, and also the right of the Government of Madras to extend irrigation.

During the course of these prolonged negotiations, this Government, in addition to the opinions of their own professional advisers, have had the advantage of the advice and assistance of the Government of India Irrigation experts and further, before the final settlement was effected they also consulted the late Chief Engineer for Irrigation, Mr. W. J. J. Howley, C.S.I., whose high professional qualifications and long experience of the case were of the greatest value.

A most important factor in the case was the effect of any agreement which might be arrived at on existing interests and right in the Cauvery Delta, including French territory. These interests were necessarily regarded as a first charge on any arrangement that might be made. The various representations made by Tanjore mirasidars and other interested parties were most carefully studied and considered. The advantages which will accrue to this area in the effect of the proposed storage reservoir in affording a regular and reliable supply independent of seasonal conditions, cannot be over-estimated, while, pending the completion of the reservoir, the area is fully safeguarded by the limitation of the permissible storage in Mysore which was also definitely pressed for as necessary to safeguard the rights of Tanjore and Trichinopoly ryots and so as to allow of further extension.

This Government have further agreed with the Mysore Darbar that Mysore shall utilize the water power available at Mekadatu for the development of electric power, subject to the right of Madras to purchase power from this source, if required, at a concession rate In view of the very large sources of power which are available in this Presidency, it is doubtful whether power from Mekadatu will be required.

The agreement is a most satisfactory termination of this prolonged dispute as while it affords complete protection of existing irrigation, it also enables the Madras Government to proceed with their reservoir at Metur as soon as the Secretary of State has sanctioned the project, and to effect a considerable extension of irrigated area.

P. HAWKINS,
Joint. Secy. to Govt., P.W.D. (Irrigation).

Agreement.

1. Whereas by an agreement, dated 18th February 1892, commonly known and cited as the 1892 agreement, entered into between the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore, hereinafter referred to as the Mysore Government, and the Government of Madras, hereinafter referred to as the Madras Government, certain rules and schedules defining the limits within which no new irrigation works are to be constructed by the Mysore Government without previous reference to the Madras Government were framed and agreed to; and

2. Whereas under clause III of the said agreement the Mysore Government asked for the consent of the Madras Government to the construction of a dam and a reservoir across and on the river Cauvery at Kannambadi now known as the Krishnarajasagara dam and reservoir; and

3. Whereas a dispute arose as to the terms under which the Mysore Government were to construct the dam in the manner and form proposed by them; and

4. Whereas such dispute was referred to the arbitration of Sir H. D. Griffin who gave an award in the year 1914 as to the terms and conditions under which the Madras Government should consent to the construction of the said dam and reservoir; and

5. Whereas the Madras Government, after the said award of the said arbitrator was ratified by the Government of India, appealed to the Secretary of State for India who reopened the question; and

6. Whereas thereupon the Mysore Government and the Madras Government with a view to an amicable settlement of the dispute entered into negotiations with each other; and

7. Whereas as the result of such negotiations, certain Rules of Regulation of the Krishnarajasagara reservoir were framed and agreed to by the Chief Engineers of the Mysore and Madras Governments on the 26th day of July of the year 1921, such Rules of Regulation forming Annexure I to this agreement; and

8. Whereas, thereafter, the technical officers of the two Governments have met in conference and examined the question of extension of irrigation in their respective territories with a view to reaching an amicable arrangement; and

9. Whereas as the result of such examination and conference by the technical officers of the two Governments, certain points with respect to such extension were agreed to respectively by the Chief Engineer for Irrigation, Madras, and the Special Officer, Krishnarajasagara Works, at Bangalore, on the 14th day of September 1923, such points forming Annexure III to this agreement.

10. Now these presents witness that the Mysore Government and the Madras Government do hereby agree and bind themselves, their successors and representatives as follows:—

(i) The Mysore Government shall be entitled to construct and the Madras Government do hereby assent under clause III of the 1892 agreement to the Mysore Government constructing a dam and a reservoir across and on the river Cauvery at Kannambadi, now known as the Krishnarajasagara, such dam and reservoir to be of a storage capacity of not higher than 112 feet above the sill of the under-sluices now in existence corresponding to 124 feet above bed of the river before construction of the dam, and to be of the effective capacity of 44,827 million cubic feet, measured from the sill of the irrigation sluices constructed at 60 feet level above the bed of the river up to the maximum height of 124 feet above the bed of the river; the level of the bed of the river before the construction of the reservoir being taken as 12 feet below the sill level of the existing under-sluices; and such dam and reservoir to be in all respects as described in schedule forming Annexure II to this agreement.

(ii) The Mysore Government on their part hereby agree to regulate the discharge through and from the said reservoir strictly in accordance with the Rules of Regulation set forth in the Annexure I, which Rules of Regulation shall be and form part of this agreement.

(iii) The Mysore Government hereby agree to furnish to the Madras Government within two years from the date of the present agreement dimensioned plans of anicuts and sluices or open heads at the off-takes of all existing irrigation channels having their source in the rivers Cauvery, Lakshmanathirtha and Hemavathi, showing thereon in a distinctive colour all alterations that have been made subsequent to the year 1910, and further to furnish maps similarly showing the location of the areas irrigated by the said channels prior to or in the year 1910.

(iv) The Mysore Government on their part shall be at liberty to carry out future extensions of irrigation in Mysore under the Cauvery and its tributaries to an extent now fixed at 110,000 acres. This extent of new irrigation of 110,000 acres shall be in addition to and irrespective of the extent of irrigation permissible under the Rules of Regulation forming Annexure I to this agreement, viz., 125,000 acres plus the extension permissible under each of the existing channels to the extent of one-third of the area actually irrigated under such channel in or prior to 1910.

(v) The Madras Government on their part agree to limit the new area of irrigation under their Cauvery-Metur project to 301,000 acres, and the capacity of the new reservoir at Metur, above the lowest irrigation sluice to ninety-three thousand five hundred million cubic feet.

Provided that, should scouring sluices be constructed in the dam at a lower level than the irrigation sluice, the dates on which such scouring sluices are opened shall be communicated to the Mysore Government.

(vi) The Mysore Government and the Madras Government agree, with reference to the provisions of clauses (iv) and (v) preceding, that each Government shall arrange to supply the other as soon after the close of each official or calendar year, as may be convenient, with returns of the areas newly brought under irrigation, and with the average monthly discharges at the main canal heads, as soon after the close of each month as may be convenient.

(vii) The Mysore Government on their part agree that extensions of irrigation in Mysore as specified in clause (iv) above shall be carried out only by means of reservoirs constructed on the Cauvery and its tributaries mentioned in Schedule A of the 1892 agreement. Such reservoirs may be of an effective capacity of 45,000 million cubic feet, in the aggregate and the impounding therein shall be so regulated as not to make any material diminution in supplies connoted by the gauges accepted in the Rules of Regulation for the Krishnarajasagara forming Annexure I to this agreement, it being understood that the rules for working such reservoirs shall be so framed as to reduce to within 5 per cent any loss during any impounding period, by the adoption of suitable proportion factors, impounding formula or such other means as may be settled at the time.

(viii) The Mysore Government further agree that full particulars and details of such reservoir schemes, and of the impounding therein, shall be furnished to the Madras Government to enable them to satisfy themselves that the conditions in clause (vii) above will be fulfilled. Should there arise any difference of opinion between the Madras and Mysore Governments as to whether the said conditions are fulfilled in regard to any such scheme or schemes, both the Madras and Mysore Governments agree that such difference shall be settled in the manner provided in clause (xv) below.

(ix) The Mysore Government and the Madras Government agree that the reserve storage for power generation purposes now provided in the Krishnarajasagara may be utilised by the Mysore Government according to their convenience from any other reservoir hereafter to be constructed, and the storage thus released from the Krishnarajasagara may be utilized for new irrigation within the extent of 110,000 acres provided for in clause (iv) above.

(x) Should the Mysore Government so decide to release the reserve storage for power generation purposes from the Krishnarajasagara, the working tables for the new reservoir from which the power water will then be utilized shall be framed after taking into consideration the conditions specified in clause (vii) above and the altered conditions of irrigation under the Krishnarajasagara.

(xi) The Mysore Government and the Madras Government further agree that the limitations and arrangements embodied in clauses (iv) to (viii) supra shall, at the expiry of fifty years from the date of the execution of these presents, be open to reconsideration in the light of the experience gained and of an examination of the possibilities of the further extension of irrigation within the territories of the respective Governments and to such modifications and additions as may be mutually agreed upon as the result of such reconsideration.

(xii) The Madras Government and the Mysore Government further agree that the limits of extension of irrigation specified in clauses (iv) and (v) above shall not preclude extensions of irrigation effected solely by improvement of duty, without any increase of the quantity of water used.

(xiii) Nothing herein agreed to or contained shall be deemed to qualify or limit in any manner the operation of the 1892 agreement in regard to matters other than those to which this agreement relates or to affect the rights of the Mysore Government to construct new irrigation works on the tributaries of the Cauvery in Mysore not included in Schedule A of the 1892 agreement.

(xiv) The Madras Government shall be at liberty to construct new irrigation works on the tributaries of the Cauvery in Madras and, should the Madras Government construct, on the Bhavani, Amaravati or Noyil rivers in Madras, any new storage reservoir, the Mysore Government shall be at liberty to construct, as an offset, a storage reservoir in addition to those referred to in clause (vii) of this agreement on one of the tributaries of the Cauvery in Mysore, of a capacity not exceeding 60 per cent of the new reservoir in Madras.

Provided that the impounding in such reservoirs shall not diminish or affect in any way the supplies to which the Madras Government and the Mysore Government respectively are entitled under this agreement, or the division of surplus water which, it is anticipated, will be available for division on the termination of this agreement as provided in clause (xi).

(xv) The Madras Government and the Mysore Government hereby agree that, if at any time there should arise any dispute between the Madras Government and the Mysore Government touching the interpretation or operation or carrying out of this agreement, such dispute shall be referred for settlement to arbitration, or if the parties so agree shall be submitted to the Government of India.

A. R. BANERJI,
Diwan of Mysore.

P. HAWKINS,
Secretary to Government, P.W.D., Madras.

18th February 1924.

Annexure I.

RULES OF REGULATION OF THE KRISHNARAJASAGARA RESERVOIR UNDER CONSTRUCTION ON THE CAUVERY IN THE MYSORE TERRITORY.

PREAMBLE.

The following rules of regulation of the Krishnarajasagara (formerly known and referred to, in the rules of regulation previously in force as the Kannambadi reservoir) shall supersede in toto those forming part of the award, dated 21st April 1914, on term of reference 3 (a) given by the Arbitrator appointed by the Government of India to arbitrate between the Madras and the Mysore Governments on the question of the storage of the waters of the river Cauvery within Mysore territory.

The rules, with the exception of Nos. 1 to 9 inclusive, 10 (except in so far as it relates to Km), 11, 12, 14 (ii), 15 to 17 inclusive, 22, 23, 26 (i), (iii) and (v), 27 to 30 inclusive and 32, shall be subject to amendment as may be desirable, subject to the conditions below:—

(a) The rules may be altered tentatively for one or two years, by agreement of both parties.

(b) At the end of the tentative period the amended rules may be confirmed by the consent of both parties.

(c) Subject to conditions (a) and (b) above, amendment of any rule shall not be a bar to further amendment or reversion to the original rules by consent of both parties.

I. RULES OF REGULATION, GENERAL.

1. The carrying out of these rules of regulation shall, in so far as they relate to the regulation of the Krishnarajasagara, be the duty of a Controlling officer appointed by the Government of Mysore, and of a subordinate staff working under his orders.

2. The only discretion, to be exercised by the Controlling officer in operating the rules of regulation shall be as to the means by which the water to be passed from the reservoir to the river shall be passed and such discretion shall be exercised in general accordance with the instructions of the Mysore Government.

3. The curves of discharge of all gauging places in the Mysore State shall be verified by gauging at intervals of three years. Cross-sections of the rivers at the gauging sites shall be taken twice a year, in the first fortnight in June and in the first fortnight of October. If a cross-section taken in June, at any gauging site, indicates a marked change in cross-sectional area, gauge for gauge, joint gaugings shall be made at once, on the request of either party, to verify the discharge curve for the station. Any modification in the curve, found necessary, shall not, however, be applied to regulation for the year in which the gaugings are made.

4. The verification of curves of discharge, referred to in rule 3 above, shall be made jointly by Mysore and Madras; and if such verification shows that modification is necessary such modification shall be made by mutual agreement.

5. All formulæ and coefficients in such formulæ of discharge, referred to in the rules, shall be subject to revision by mutual agreement.

6. All quantities and readings of gauges to be telegraphed in accordance with these rules shall be expressed in words.

II. LIMIT GAUGES AND DISCHARGES AT THE UPPER ANICUT.

7. The minimum flow of the Cauvery that must be ensured at the Upper Anicut before any impounding is made in the Krishnarajasagara, as connoted by the readings of the Cauvery Dam north gauge, shall be as follows:—

Months.	Readings of the Cauvery Dam North gauge.
June	Six and a half feet.
July and August	Seven and a half feet.
September	Seven feet.
October	Six and a half feet.
November	Six feet.
December	Three and a half feet.
January	Three feet.

8. The discharges connoted by the gauge readings set forth in rule 7 shall, in the case of regulation during the irrigation season (vide rule 9) of 1921, be deduced from the average discharge curve derived from the joint gaugings of the Cauvery at the Cauvery Dam made in the four years ending 1920. The said discharges shall be revised, if necessary, after completion of the joint gaugings of 1921 and shall be used for the purpose of regulation for the five years ending 1926. The said discharges shall be finally revised and adopted for all subsequent regulation, at the conclusion of the joint gauging of the year 1926, on the basis of the joint gaugings of the ten years ending 1926.

9. The south-west monsoon shall, for the purposes of these rules, be considered to extend from the 1st June to the 30th September, both days inclusive, and the north-east monsoon from the 1st October to the 31st January, both days inclusive. The irrigation season shall be taken to extend from the 1st June to the 31st January, both days inclusive. All dates in this rule shall have reference to the Upper Anicut.

III. IMPOUNDING FORMULA.

10. Impounding in the Krishnarajasagara during the irrigation season shall be regulated in accordance with following formula:—

$$I = \frac{Kn}{P} - C, \text{ where}$$

I = Quantity that may be impounded,

Kn = Inflow at Krishnarajasagara, that is, the measured flow at the three 'standard' gauging stations at Chunchunkatte on the Cauvery, Akkihebbal on the Hemavathi and Unduvadi on the Lakshmanathirtha, to which shall be added allowances for—

(i) The yield from the catchment between the 'standard' gauging stations and the Krishnarajasagara calculated in accordance with paragraphs 61 and 62 of Colonel Ellis's Manual of Irrigation (1920 Edition) less the quantity of water required for tank irrigation in the tract in question. In the catchment, the discharges of the major streams shall be deducted, if feasible, from gauge readings by mutual Agreement. The duty of water for the areas irrigated under tanks shall be taken as 40,

(ii) The drainage from the amounts of channels which drain back into the rivers below the 'standard' gauging stations, the quantity in cusecs of such drainage for a particular channel being taken to be $\frac{1}{8}$ of the area irrigated in acres divided by 40.

C = Flow connoted by the gauge reading for the particular month concerned given in rule 7 above. The month at Krishnarajasagara corresponding to that at the Upper Anicut is to be taken as commencing and ending four days earlier than at the Upper Anicut.

P = The proportion which the natural flow in the Cauvery at the Krishnarajasagara bears to the corresponding natural flow at the Upper Anicut.

I, Kn and C to be expressed in the same units

11. (i) Until the 31st January 1927 the values of 'P' in the formula in rule 10 shall be taken as ·625 during the south-west monsoon and ·300 during the north-east monsoon.

(ii) An examination of the effect of impounding in the Krishnarajasagara on the supplies realized at the Upper Anicut shall be made in the form and in accordance with the instructions given in Part II of the Appendix to these rules for each of the ten years ending with the irrigation season of 1926-27 to see whether the tentative factors of ·625 and ·300, provided in part (i) of this rule should be permanently adopted or whether they should be increased (vide instructions 25 and 26 of Part II of the Appendix) For the five irrigation seasons ending 1921-22 the average discharge curve for the Cauvery Dam north gauge, obtained from the gaugings of the five-year period ending and including 1921, shall be prepared and adopted for the examination. For subsequent years the discharge curve of the year concerned shall be used. For the months for which it is found necessary, from the examination referred to above, to increase the values of 'P' such values shall be finally adopted and brought into use in lieu of those in part (i) of this rule at the beginning of the irrigation season 1927-28. For months when no increase in the value of 'P' is found to be necessary, the values given in part (i) of this rule shall be finally retained and brought into use at the beginning of the same irrigation season.

12. (i) The whole flow of the river at Krishnarajasagara may be impounded in the reservoir from the 28th January to the 27th of May, both days inclusive, but issues from the reservoir shall be made when necessary to maintain such a flow as will pass to Madras not less than 900 cusecs below Sivasamudram anicut.

(ii) Until the dam is completed to a height admitting of F.R.L. 98 feet above sill level of the existing low level sluices in the dam or until the 28th May 1931, whichever date is the earlier, as an alternative to part (i) of this rule impounding from the 28th January to the 24th February, both days inclusive, shall be in accordance with rules 7, 10 and 11 as far as they relate to the month of January, measurement being made at the Krishnarajasagara; and from the 25th February to the 27th May, both days inclusive, the whole flow at the Krishnarajasagara may be impounded, subject to a flow of 750 cusecs being maintained below Sivasamudram anicut The Mysore Darbar may at any time before the year 1931 elect to regulate their reservoir as provided in part (i) of this rule, subject to notice being given to the Government of Madras before the 31st December of the year preceding that in which the rule will come into operation. In the event of the Mysore Darbar electing to regulate in accordance with part (i) of this rule no change shall be made thereafter.

IV. GAUGE READINGS AND INFLOW COMPUTATIONS.

13. (i) The standard gauges at the gauging stations on the three rivers above the Krishnarajasagara and the gauging station below the same, shall be read three times daily, that is, 6 a.m., noon and 6 p.m.

(ii) All gauge readings shall be telephoned immediately after reading to the Controlling officer at the Krishnarajasagara.

14. (i) The computation of the inflow into the Krishnarajasagara shall be made by the said Controlling officer from the electric water level records of the three rivers above the Krishnarajasagara with due allowance for the yield from the intermediate catchment, such allowances being made as provided in rule 10. In the event of an electric recorder differing from the telephoned gauge readings, the latter shall be adopted for computing the inflow for the time being.

(ii) Until the 27th May 1923 the discharges at the standard gauging stations shall be computed from the average curves based on the discharge observations of the four years 1915—1918. For the irrigation seasons 1923-24 to 1927-28, inclusive, the discharges at the standard gauging stations shall be computed on the previous season's curves. For irrigation seasons subsequent to that of 1927-28 the discharges at the standard gauging stations shall be computed on the latest annual curves available.

(iii) In the event of an electric recorder differing from the telephoned gauge readings, the Controlling officer shall, as soon as possible, proceed to the gauging station, check and, if possible, rectify the electric recorder. If the mechanical record is found to differ from the telephoned gauge readings and the mechanical recorder is registering accurately, a correction shall be made in the tentative inflow recorded in the regulation register in accordance with the mechanical record.

(iv) In the event of both recorders breaking down, the telephoned gauge readings shall be the basis of computation.

V. ALLOWANCE FOR EXTENSION OF IRRIGATION IN MYSORE AFTER THE YEAR 1910.

15. The area to which Mysore is entitled to extend irrigation, without paying compensation water to Madras, by improvement of duty in canals or channels, in existence prior to the year 1910, taking off from the following rivers in Mysore :—

(i) the Hemavathi,

(ii) the Lakshmanathirtha,

(iii) the Cauvery (above and below the reservoir) shall be limited to ½ of the existing area prior to the year 1910, the extension under each channel being considered separately.

16. In lieu of 9,274 acres of old irrigation to be submerged by the Krishnarajasagara with F.R.L. of 118 feet above bed of river or 108 feet above the sill of the low level sluices now in existence, Mysore shall be entitled to extend irrigation to an area of 12,500 acres, without paying compensation water to Madras, under canals or channels taking off from the Hemavathi, the Lakshmanathirtha or the Cauvery, constructed subsequent to the year 1910 and above the Krishnarajasagara. In the event of the Krishnarajasagara being constructed of such a capacity as to submerge less than 9,274 acres, the permissible extension shall be reduced according to the area actually submerged and in the ratio of 12,500 to 9,274 and when a larger area is submerged owing to the capacity of the reservoir being increased to 44,827 millions cubic feet (F.R.L. 124 feet above bed of river or 112 feet above the sill of the low level sluices now in existence) the permissible extension shall be similarly increased in the same proportion on such larger area as may be actually submerged.

17. The quantity of water in ounces due to Madras as compensation for water utilized by Mysore for the area in excess of that provided in rules 15 and 16 shall be calculated by dividing such excess area irrigated by 40.

VI. COMPUTATION OF ISSUES.

18. The quantity of water to be passed to Madras shall be computed every 12 hours from the records of inflow of the previous 12 hours.

19. (i) For the purpose of orders for the regulation of the sluice shutters, the quantities of water to be passed through the sluices shall be computed by the application of the formula :—

$D = C.A.\sqrt{2gh}$

D = Discharge in ounces.
C = Coefficient.
A = Height of shutter raised, multiplied by width of vent, both in feet.
g = 32.
h = Effective head in feet.

Joint observations shall be made annually to determine the value of C until values covering the whole range of water level in the Krishnarajasagara have been determined by mutual agreement.

(ii) A suitable formula arrived at by mutual agreement for the discharge over the waste weir shall also be applied when details are known.

20. The quantity of water actually passed down shall be verified by observation between the Krishnarajasagara and the Chickderaeysagar anicut. The means of such verification shall be decided on by mutual agreement.

VII. HOT WEATHER COMPUTATION OF ISSUES FROM THE KRISHNARAJASAGARA.

21. From the 26th January to the 27th May, both days inclusive, when rule 12 (i) is in operation, or from the 25th February to the 27th May, both days inclusive, when rule 12 (ii) is in operation, the Controlling officer shall receive information from Sivasamudram at least twice daily of the flow during the previous 12 hours at Sivasamudram anicut and shall by occasional visits verify the same.

22. The quantity to be issued from the Krishnarajasagara shall be such quantity as will ensure the passing at Sivasamudram anicut of the quantity provided for in rule 12.

VIII. REGULATION REGISTER.

23. All regulation calculations and computations provided in any of the previous rules shall be recorded in a register called the 'Regulation register' and the orders for regulation which result from the computation shall also be recorded under the signature of the Controlling officer.

IX. REGULATION.

24. Regulation of sluices shall be made at 12-hourly intervals, the times of commencement and completion of regulation being entered in the 'Regulation register'.

25. The Controlling officer shall satisfy himself personally when the sluices are finally adjusted that the regulation has been accurately carried out in accordance with recorded orders and certify that he has done so in the 'Regulation register'. Under extraordinary circumstances only shall the sluices be manipulated other than at 12-hour intervals and in such cases full information regarding the reasons and necessity for this and the nature of the intermediate regulation shall at once be communicated by the Controlling officer to each Government.

26. (i) Any deficit or excess in quantity due to Madras indicated by the verification provided in rule 20 or by the water level in the reservoir shall be adjusted in the next period of regulation.

(ii) A computed issue from the reservoir in excess of that computed as due to Madras may be recouped by Mysore by subsequent regulation; if however the overissue was intentional, such recoupment shall be limited to 20 per cent of the computed issue due to Madras when the overissue was made; if the computed correct water level of the reservoir has been higher than the actual water level for each of the previous eight 12-hourly periods the actual water level, if below the computed correct water level, shall be taken as the correct water level whether the overissue was unintentional or intentional. The computed correct water level of the reservoir shall take account of actual issues for irrigation and losses due to evaporation.

(iii) The rates of evaporation shall be taken as given below until the end of the irrigation season 1924–25:—

Month.	Inches per month.
June	5
July to February	4
March	5
April	7
May	8

After 1924–25 the rates for evaporation shall be determined as provided in instruction No. 7 of Part I of Appendix to these rules. These rates may be revised for final adoption in 1927 by mutual agreement.

(iv) In computing the issue to be passed to Madras through the undersluices or over the weir a deduction shall be made from the computed issue due to Madras of an amount equivalent to ¼ of the issues to the two existing low level irrigation channels taking off from the reservoir subject to a maximum deduction of 25 cusecs. No deduction shall be made from the computed issue due to Madras for water issued from the reservoir for irrigation other than that for the channels specified above.

(v) If the information provided for in rule 21 shows that the quantity of water due to Madras under rule 12 is deficient, the regulation shall at once be altered to ensure the passing at Sivasamudram anicut of the quantity by which the flow has been deficient in the previous 12 hours plus the 900 or 750 cusecs, as the case may be, provided for in rule 12, and each special regulation shall be entered in the 'Regulation register' referred to in rule 23.

X. DISCHARGE AT CAUVERY DAM DURING THE PERIOD ENDING 31ST JANUARY 1927.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE PREPARATION OF WORKING TABLES OF (i) IMPOUNDING IN THE KRISHNARAJASAGARA AND (ii) AGANDA CAUVERY DISCHARGES FOR MAKING THE EXAMINATION REFERRED TO IN RULE 11 (ii) OF THE RULES OF REGULATION.

The period covered by the working tables and the examination of the effect of the Krishnarajasagara on supplies due to Madras at the Upper Anicut shall be from the 1st June 1917 to the 31st January 1927. Of these, the Krishnarajasagara working tables will be made in sample form A for each year during the ten-year period; and the Cauvery Dam discharge tables will be made in sample form B for only such periods when there is any impounding in the Krishnarajasagara as shown in sample form A.

PART I.

KRISHNARAJASAGARA WORKING TABLES.

The full effective capacity of the reservoir is to be taken as that connoted by the full reservoir level at 112 feet above sill level of the existing under-sluices (124 feet above bed of the river before the construction of the dam), namely, 44,827 millions cubic feet. The actual balance as obtained from the previous year's working tables or 5,000 millions cubic feet, whichever is the greater, should be taken as the starting balance on the 28th May of each year.

The balance on the 28th May 1917 should be that obtained from working tables of the year 1916 or 5,000 millions cubic feet, whichever is the greater, and the opening balance on the 28th May 1916 should be taken as 5,000 millions cubic feet.

From June 1916 to June 1922 the curves of discharge for the standard gauging stations above the reservoir shall be the average curves based on the discharge observations of the four years 1915 to 1918. From 1922 to 1926, both years inclusive, gaugings shall be made at the three standard gauging stations and the annual discharge curves obtained shall be used for the years concerned.

4. Column (3).—Regulation is to be assumed to have been made in accordance with the Rules of Regulation for the whole period of eleven years and the quantity that may be impounded so derived to be entered in this column for each twelve-hourly period, the working tables in this form for 1916 being intended only for arriving at the starting balance in the reservoir on 28th May 1917.

PART II.

AGENDA CAUVERY DISCHARGE TABLES.

(Vide sample form B.)

13. The examination of the effect of impounding in the Krishnarajasagara to be made in sample form B. Entries will only be made in this table for actual impounding periods of six consecutive twelve-hourly periods and over as exhibited in sample form A.

14. Column (1).—The number to refer to the whole impounding period.

15. Column (2).—The entry in this column to refer only to dates of an impounding period shown in sample form A and not to date in column (3). For the purpose of this examination the impounding period will be taken to include any interval up to and including six twelve-hourly periods between actual impounding period and the succeeding actual impounding period as defined in instruction 13 above.

16. Column (3).—The date and hour of the first entry of an impounding period made in this column to be those 24 hours prior to the end of the first twelve-hourly period of impounding shown in sample form A. The date and hour of the last entry of an impounding period to be those 48 hours after the last twelve-hourly period of impounding shown in sample form A, as determined by instruction 15 above.

17. Column (4).—The time for transmission from the Krishnarajasagara to the Upper Anicut shall be taken as the average indicated by a comparison of such peak gauge readings of the Chickdevaroysagar and Upper Anicuts as are available up to the end of 1921, fractions of a twelve-hourly period less than six hours in the average result being neglected and those greater than six hours being taken as one twelve-hourly period. Only peak gauges from half a foot below the limits in rule 7 of the Rules of Regulation up to 9 feet in the south-west monsoon and 7½ feet in the north-east monsoon to be taken into account. Separate averages to be deduced for the south-west and north-east monsoons.

18. Column (5).—The total discharge in the Agenda Cauvery (a) and (b) below to be calculated from the records of the automatic water level recorder, if the readings of the gauge made at 6 a.m., noon and 6 p.m. show the recorder to have registered accurately, otherwise the readings of the gauges made at 6 a.m., noon and 6 p.m. to be used and the discharges averaged for each twelve-hourly period :—

(a) The discharge of the Cauvery shall be that given by the discharge curves for the Cauvery Dam gauge provided in rule 11 (ii) of the Rules of Regulation.

(b) The discharge through the Upper Anicut regulators to be calculated as laid down in paragraph 13 of Part II of Volume III of 'Papers regarding the Cauvery Reservoir Project' (pages 7 and 8) account being taken of any intermediate regulation.

19. Column (6) (a).—The quantity to be entered in this column is that due to the actual rise in the reservoir, as shown from the Regulation records, plus the loss due to evaporation, plus the recorded issue for irrigation after making the deduction provided for in rule 20 (iv) of the Rules of Regulation.

Column (6) (b).—The quantity to be entered in this column is that due to the actual fall in the reservoir, as shown from the Regulation records, minus the loss due to evaporation, minus the recorded issue for irrigation after adding the deduction provided for in rule 26 (iv) of the Rules of Regulation.

20. Column (7).—A percentage allowance, if decided to be necessary, to be made for loss in transmission between the Krishnarajasagara and the Upper Anicut. This allowance to be settled by mutual agreement in June 1926 after further examination of the subject and any joint observations made to determine it; in the event of disagreement the case to be referred to the Government of India for final decision. Figures corresponding to column (6) (a) will be a plus entry in this column and those corresponding to column (6) (b) a minus entry.

21. Column (8).—Instruction in heading to be followed.

22. Column (9).—The quantity due to Madras in any twelve-hourly period to be the whole natural flow of the Agenda Cauvery or the discharge connoted by the gauge-readings in rule 7 of the Rules of Regulation obtained from the discharge curves referred to in rule 11 (ii) of the Rules of Regulation, whichever is less.

23. Columns (10), (12), (13) and (14).—Instructions in headings to be followed.

24. Column (11).—See instruction 20 above.

25. The several periods in column (1) should be sorted out against the several months showing against each month the percentage of deficit obtained in column (14). If the actual impounding period extends over portions of two months as noted in column (3), then the resulting percentage in column (14) to be counted against both the months.

26. After thus sorting out the periods for all the ten years against the several months, the resulting deficit in excess of 5 per cent. is to be neglected if it happens in only one period of examination relating to a particular month. If it happens in more than one period the proportion factor is to be increased so as to reduce the number of such deficit periods to one only in any month.

(Note that the level of the bed of the river before the construction of the dam is taken as 12 feet below the sill level of the said undersluices.) Subject to the above specified modifications in regard to the maximum height of water stored, and the effective capacity, such dam and reservoir to be constructed in accordance with the design accompanying the Project Report furnished with the Diwan of Mysore's demi-official letter No. 2311, dated 16th May 1911.

Annexure III.

POINTS AGREED TO AT THE CONFERENCE BETWEEN THE CHIEF ENGINEERS OF THE MADRAS AND MYSORE GOVERNMENTS REGARDING THE CAUVERY DISPUTE.

The technical agreement at the Krishnarajasagara, come to in 1921 between the Chief Engineers of the two Governments, will be taken as finally settled subject to the alterations in rules 15 and 17 now agreed to as shown in Appendix I, and the Krishnarajasagara question also settled according to that agreement.

2 The extent of future extension of irrigation in Mysore under the Cauvery and its tributaries mentioned in Schedule A of the 1892 agreement shall be fixed at 110,000 acres, and Madras shall have their Cauvery-Metur project as revised in 1921 with their new area of irrigation fixed at 301,000 acres, as speculed in paragraph 11, page 4 of the Project Report (1921), Volume V.

3 Such extensions of future irrigation in Mysore will be carried out only by means of reservoirs on the Cauvery and its tributaries mentioned in Schedule A of the 1892 agreement. Such reservoirs may be of an effective capacity of 45,000 millions cubic feet in the aggregate, and the impounding therein shall be so adjusted as not to make any material diminution of the supplies counted by the gauges accepted in the technical agreement for the Krishnarajasagara, it being understood that the rules for the working of such reservoirs shall be so framed as to reduce to within 5 per cent, any loss during any impounding period in excess of 5 per cent by the adoption of suitable proportion factors, impounding formula, or other means that may be settled at the time.

4. Full particulars and details of such reservoir schemes shall be furnished to the Madras Government to enable them to satisfy themselves that the conditions in paragraph 3 above will be fulfilled. If there arise any difference of opinion between the Madras and Mysore Governments regarding any scheme sent by the Mysore Government, the matter shall be settled in accordance with clause IV of the 1892 agreement.

5. The reserve storage for power generation purposes now allowed in the Krishnarajasagara may be utilized from any other reservoir, according to the convenience of Mysore; and the storage released from the Krishnarajasagara may be utilized for irrigation within the extent of 110,000 acres noted above. In that case, the working tables of the new reservoir from which power water will be utilized, will be framed after taking into consideration the conditions specified in paragraph 3 above and the altered conditions of irrigation under the Krishnarajasagara.

6. It is suggested that the present limitation in regard to the extension of new irrigation in paragraph 2 above shall hold good for a period of 50 years; at the end of that period it may be subject to reconsideration.

PLAGUE REGULATIONS IN FORCE OUTSIDE THE PRESIDENCY TOWN.

No 608.—Whereas certain parts of the Presidency of Madras are visited by, and other parts are threatened with, an outbreak of the dangerous epidemic disease known as plague, and whereas the ordinary provisions of the law for the time being in force in the Presidency are insufficient for the purpose of preventing the outbreak or spread of the disease:

In exercise of the powers conferred by section 2-A of the Epidemic Diseases Act, 1897, as amended by the Devolution Act XXXVIII of 1920, the Local Government are pleased to prescribe, in supersession of all regulations previously issued on the subject, the following temporary regulations to be observed throughout the Presidency except the City of Madras for a period of one year from the 15th of July 1924

1. In these regulations

(a) 'Infected area' means any area which is notified under these regulations by the Local Government or, subject to their control by the Collector of a district, to be infected with plague.

(b) 'A local authority' means the local medical officer or, if there is no such officer, the village headman, the District Health Inspector or any other person appointed as a local authority for the purposes of plague by the Collector of the district.

(c) 'Plague Officer' means the District Health Officer or the District Medical and Sanitary Officer where there is no District Health Officer, the Municipal Health Officer and the Revenue Divisional Officer within his jurisdiction and includes any other person who may be appointed by the Government or by the Collector as plague officer over any definite area.

2. The Local Government may, by notification in the Fort St. George Gazette, declare any place or area in which one or more indigenous cases of plague have occurred, or in which the existence of plague among rats has been proved, to be infected with plague. In similar circumstances, the Collector of the district may notify by tom-tom and by publication in the district gazette that any place or area in his district is infected with plague, informing the Government forthwith of the fact that he has done so.

3. In an infected area or in a district adjoining an infected area the Collector may close any existing market and may appoint special places where markets may be held and may prescribe limits beyond which it shall not be lawful for persons bringing articles for sale from or to an infected area to pass.

4. In an infected area the Collector, or a plague officer with the previous sanction of the Collector, may order the evacuation of infected houses and houses in their neighbourhood, or generally of any infected locality.

Provided that, before issuing or authorising an order for compulsory evacuation, the Collector shall either provide adequate and suitable shelter within reasonable distance for the persons evicted, together with the necessary water-supply and arrangements for watch and ward or shall satisfy himself that such shelter and water-supply have been provided by private agency. The Collector shall also satisfy himself that the compulsory evacuation is necessary to avert the further spread of the disease, or is in the interests of the infected population, taking account of climatic conditions.

The Collector may require all persons who evacuate their houses voluntarily, or are evicted under this regulation, to reside in such place as he may appoint.

Nothing contained in this rule shall be deemed to apply to persons who have been successfully inoculated against plague during the nine months prior to the declaration of a locality being infected or who get themselves inoculated within 24 hours of such declaration.

5. In an infected area the Collector may enter upon, occupy and use, or may depute any person in his upon, occupy and use, without having recourse to the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, any building or place which is required for, and is, in the opinion of the District Health Officer or the District Medical and Sanitary Officer where there is no District Health Officer, suitable for any purposes connected with plague measures: provided that, if the building or place is occupied, twenty-four hours' notice in writing shall be given to the occupier or shall be conspicuously affixed on such building or place. The owner or lessee of such building or place shall be entitled to a reasonable rent, to be fixed by the Collector for the period during which the ground or building may be used for purposes connected with plague; and the Collector shall, when any building ceases to be so used, cause it to be thoroughly cleansed and, if the owner so desires, white-washed internally and externally.

6. If the Collector is of opinion that the destruction of any hut or shed is necessary to prevent the spread of plague, he may take summary measures for the destruction of such hut or shed and of the materials of which it is constructed.

7. The Collector may direct that any dwelling house or any loading place or railway goods-shed or any place used for the storage of grain shall be inspected and that all rats found therein shall be destroyed; and to facilitate the destruction of rats may order the temporary removal of any grain or other merchandise.

8. The Collector may direct that at any place in his district any consignment of grain, being conveyed by rail, road or otherwise, shall be examined, and shall, if necessary, be unloaded and exposed to the sun in such manner and for such period as he may fix.

9. Every householder and every medical practitioner shall at once report to the nearest local authority any case of plague or any case of fever with glandular swellings or any abnormal mortality among rats which may come to his notice.

10. The chairman of any municipal council or union panchayat, or the headman of any village in which there is no panchayat, may prevent any person suspected of coming from an infected place from entering the town or village for a period not exceeding two days unless his clothing and personal effects have been thoroughly exposed to the direct rays of the sun for not less than six hours. He may also prevent any consignment of grain from entering the town or village until the bags have been removed from the carts and every side of each bag has been exposed to the direct rays of the sun for not less than two hours.

11. (1) In the absence of a written contract to the contrary, every inspector, mistri, peon, watchman, coolie, scavenger or other menial servant employed to do duty in connexion with plague, shall be entitled to one month's notice before discharge, or to one month's wages in lieu thereof, unless he is discharged for misconduct or was engaged for a specified term and is discharged at the end of it. Similarly every supplier of coolies shall be entitled to one month's notice before his coolies are discharged.

(2) No such inspector, mistri, peon, watchman, coolie, scavenger or other menial servant shall, in the absence of a written contract authorizing him to do so, and without reasonable cause, resign his employment or absent himself from his duties without giving one month's notice or shall neglect or refuse to perform any of his duties. In like manner no supplier of coolies or other menial servants shall withdraw his coolies or servants without giving one month's notice.

12. When in consequence of the exercise of the powers conferred by or under these regulations any property is damaged or destroyed, the Collector shall pay to the owner by way of compensation such sum as he may consider sufficient to cover the cost of repairing the damage or replacing the property destroyed.

Notes.—(1) The Plague Regulations being orders formally made and issued by Government under the Epidemic Diseases Act, no sanction is required as a condition precedent to prosecution under disobeying them (Judgment of the High Court in Criminal Appeal No. 551 of 1899.)

(2) By Command Order No. 637, dated 18th November 1898 all ranks in the Madras Command have been directed to obey the Plague Regulations, and any infringement of them is punishable as a military offence. Military pensioners have been warned (Superintendent's Circular No. II, dated 14th December 1906) that any disobedience or wilful neglect of the regulations or obstruction offered to any official on plague duty will be treated as a breach of the good conduct required by Government as a condition of the continuation of their pensions, and that any pensioner being guilty thereof will be liable to have his pension stopped forthwith and the same reduced or permanently withdrawn.

Fort St. George, July 8, 1924
